

Dr. DAVID K. LIU is a Principal at ENVIRON International Corporation with over twenty years of experience in environmental science/engineering and environmental analytical chemistry. He has directed numerous projects in the areas of environmental litigation, environmental site assessment, feasibility study, site investigation and remediation, waste characterization, health risk assessment, compliance assistance, and environmental management system. Dr. Liu has extensive experience working with major law firms, real estate developers/management companies/investment trusts, and commercial and industrial clients throughout the United States. Prior to joining ENVIRON, Dr. Liu was a Staff Chemist/Principal Investigator at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, University of California, and a Lecturer in the Chemistry and Biochemistry Department of San Francisco State University. Dr. Liu obtained his Ph.D. in Chemistry from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a B.A. in Chemistry and Biology from Wesleyan University, and a Management Development Program Certificate from the University of Southern California.